Suicide Nazi Labor Boss Confesses Crimes in Note

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin NURNBERG, Oct. 26.—(BUP)—Dr. Robert Ley, former Nazi labor boss, left a note saying "I can't stand this shame any longer" and a rambling philosophical treatise recanting his rabid anti-Semitism when he hanged himself in his prison cell last night, it was learned today.

Ley confessed and deplored his criminally vile mauling of being forsaken by God in papers he wrote before he knotted a towel noose around his ball neck and flopped to his death.

A suicide note was found this morning in the Nurnberg prison cell where he awaited trial before an Allied tribunal on charges of war criminality. Written in German, it said:

"I can't stand this shame any longer. Physically nothing is lacking, the food is good, it is warm in the cell, the Americans are correct and partially friendly."

"Spiritually I have nothing to offer and write whatever I want. I receive paper and pencil. They do more for my health than is necessary, and I may smoke and receive tobacco and coffee. I may walk at least 20 minutes every day."

"Up to this point, everything is good, but the fact that I should be a criminal—this is what I can't stand."

Authorities said the location of the grave would be withheld from Continued on Page 2, Col. 6

Work For All Must Be Jobs For Veterans, Legion's Stand

OTTAWA, Oct. 26.—Canada's rehabilitation program can only reach ultimate success as a condition of full employment can be maintained in peace time, Alex Walker, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, told parliamentarians at a committee on veterans' affairs, Friday.

"Veterans are anxious that the government's rehabilitation measures be made effective as quickly as possible," he said. "Veterans, nature being what it is, are a population of Canada, will judge reconstruction efforts by the amount and the ways to be paid."

Loan Drive Poster Knocks Government

OTTAWA, Oct. 26.—(CP)—Finance Minister Mackenzie King said yesterday in the Commons an investigation was being made to place the responsibility for a Victory Loan poster which carried an almost "unintelligible" group of words which might be taken to reflect on the government.

Mr. Walker said it had been pointed out to him by a number of instances that the re-establishment credit was inadequate for small business enterprises, and only a very few veterans would be able to make use of it effectively in this field. The average re-establishment credit was $300.

Rioting in Sofia As Envoy of U.S. Visits Bulgaria

SOFIA, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The most serious demonstration Bulgaria experienced in a year flared for more than an hour last night when supporters of the Fatherland Front and opposition forces clashed in front of the Hotel Bulgaria, where the U.S. ambassador is residing. The rioting broke out on the occasion of the arrival of the U.S. ambassador, Mr. Carl J. Burckhardt, and his wife.

Set Record Pace Bond Sales Boosted To $319,824,200 Total

OTTAWA, Oct. 26.—(CP)—Continuing their fast bond-buying pace, Canadians subscribed $319,824,200 in the fourth day of the Ninth Victory Loan campaign Thursday to boost the national total in their biggest loan effort to date to $319,824,200, the National War Finance Committee reported today.

Daily sales continued to run at $100,000,000 ahead of the eighth loan drive last spring in the Dominion's largest war-time effort to raise a minimum of $1,000,000,000 for the financial purposes of reconstruction.

Thursdays Sales In Victory Loan Set City Record

HALIFAX, Oct. 26.—(CP)—The Queen Elizabeth, world's largest troopship, docked at Halifax today with 12,000 cheering Canadian servicemen back home from the war.

Six hundred civilians were included in the passenger list. The $50,000 Canadian War Ship liner left Southampton last Monday on her first trip after she was turned over to Canadian authorities to bring Canadian fighting men home.

This was her first visit to Halifax since the end of the war and the fitting of the security blackout. No one except the official welcome party were allowed at piers.

First Peace Time Trip Of Season Here

The season's first heavy snow storm hit Edmonton about 11:15 p.m. Thursday, and continued through the night and Friday.

By noon the depth of snowfall reached four and a half inches, and more was in prospect with the weather man predicting "cloudy and colder with light snow."

Lower temperatures are estimated with the overnight low 15, and the high tomorrow 25.

Maximum freezing Thursday was 36, and the overnight low Friday the temperature at 2 p.m. was 29, and estimated high for the day was 35.

Well-Known Here, James A. Collins Dies at the Coast

Word has been received of the death late Thursday in Vancouver of James A. Collins, 59, president of the Coast Construction Company and a former resident of Edmonton.

Mr. Collins had been in poor health for some time, and it was believed his death was caused by a heart seizure.

He was born in Kincardine, Ont., Mr. Collins came to Edmonton in 1908 and formed a partnership with John A. Hamilton in the business of contracting and bridge building for railroads.

He was also connected with the old firm which operated under the name of Chisholm-Lambert Company, which was purchased in 1925 by J. F. McMillan, present manager of the Chisholm Sawmill Limited.

Snow Brings Wave Of Traffic Mishaps

The traffic squad at police headquarters by noon Friday had already dealt with at least 12 accidents involving automobiles, trucks and street cars, none seriously damaged, as the result of icy streets and snow-fogged windshields.

The greatest amount of damage occurred when one automobile was struck by a second car, causing about $80 worth of damage. There were no persons injured, up to noon, police reported.

Sgt. A. K. Woodward, head of the traffic squad, appealed to motorists, cyclists and pedestrians to exercise every precaution in using the city streets, until such time as wind and snow can be eradicated over the packed, wet snow and slush.

Berlin Children Are Being Moved From Nazi Capital

"Operation Storm" begins today when nearly 2,000 children and parents leave Berlin in a British-supervised convoy to go to areas in the British zone of occupation where they will be better fed and clothed. They are the vanguard of 80,000 children and parents who are to be moved from Berlin during the winter months.

Cons of billeting and feeding them will be paid out of German funds in the British zone. There will be no maintenance charge for the parents to pay. More than 10,000 children and adults have so far registered under the scheme, which is voluntary.

Illes Announces: Ottawa Studies Control Plan To Regulate New Home Prices

OTTAWA, Oct. 26.—(CP)—Finance Minister Illes announced today in the Commons the government was "examining" with a method of getting some control over the price of new houses.

He made the statement in introducing a resolution to a bill which would create a central mortgage and housing corporation to act on behalf of the minister of finance in the operation of the National Housing Act and to provide discounting facilities for the loan and mortgage companies.

Mr. Illes said the method with which the government was experimenting was that of offering to enter into an agreement with builders to take any unsold houses.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 26.—(CP)—The Coalition administration supported by Liberals and Progressive Conservatives began another term of government in the British Columbia legislature, decisively endorsed by the electors who rejected for a second time a CCF bid for power.

Premier John Hart and six members of his cabinet were elected yesterday as the Coalition government scored ten gains from the CCF and nine losses from the more thickly populated constituencies in the southwestern corner of the province.

CCF Leader Harold Wilson was an easy winner in Vancouver, but lost his seat at the top of the list.

Twelve Millions to None

Twelve million present taxpayers in the United States will be freed of income tax and all other taxes by law now before Congress. The budget brought down at London will abolish income taxes for two million in Britain who have been paying here before.

These relief measures stand in sharp contrast to the reduction plan announced in the budget at Ottawa. While there is to be a flat cut in income taxes of 16 per cent all along the line in Canada, no person is freed from the tax, however small his or her income. That would only occur if the exemption limits were raised, and the budget does not raise them.

There is an even sharper contrast nearer home. Members of the House of Commons are in prospect of getting an extra $2,000 each as expense money without having to pay any income tax at all on this pay increase.

How could they justify that to the public if the rule is to stand that every one not in the House of Commons must pay income taxes on anything he gets more than $600 per year if he is single, and on anything he gets more than $1,200 if he is married?

No person in Canada should have to pay any income taxes who gets no more than $1,000 a year if single, or more than $2,000 if married. The low-income taxpayer in Canada should not continue to be the forgotten man.

B.C. Govt. Returned

As was generally expected, Premier Hart's Coalition Government was returned to power at the general elections in British Columbia yesterday, apparently by a very substantially increased majority. Returns this morning indicated that the standing of parties in the new legislature may be:
Coalition 37, C.F.P. 10, Independents 1.

At dissolution Government supporters held 29 seats. C.F.P. supporters held 10 incomplete returns show the lineup when all reports are in, the gains made by the Coalition were mainly at the expense of the official opposition. Mr. Harold Winch's "revolutionary Socialism" slogan evidently did not charm the electors and did his party more harm than good. Altogether there were 147 candidates in the field. 47 Coalition, 48 C.F.P., and 52 running as Labor-Progressives, Social Creditors, and Independents of various designations.

Dangerous Inaccuracies

The Rev. E. G. Hansell, Social Credit member for Macleod, has made the remarkable statement in the House of Commons that "Russia is a country directed and promoted civil war in Spain".
This is only a part of Mr. Hansell's tirade against the Union of Soviet Republics. But his glaring inaccuracy is typical of his entire anti-Russian bias.

It is not difficult to recall the facts about the ineffectual Russian civil war.
General Franco, then a rebel, started in from Morocco with the open collaboration of Hitler and Mussolini. Spain, at that time, had just been the theatre of a civil war in which the liberal United Front doctrine swept the country. It stood upon such politics as the (famous) Spanish Civil War and compulsory education and the abrogation of oppressive laws.

With a swarm of foreign adventurers, including Moors, Germans and Italians, Franco defied the authority of the democratically elected government. For purposes of loot and self-aggrandizement, Franco and his fascist associates plunged the country into a war that ruined it spiritually and economically.

Russia did not start the Spanish civil war until long after the war had started.
The Russians eventually aided the legiti-mate government of Spain merely to prevent another country from joining the single star of Hitler satellites.

Russia acted only after Britain and France, the natural protectors of the democratic principle, had failed by the weakness of their governments of that day to take proper steps. Happily those governments are no more.

Mr. Hansell's contention, then, is erroneous factually and historically. It is unfortunate that these mischievous untruths should be foisted upon the country at a time when a widespread suspicion of Russia in the United States makes the relation of Canada with the Soviet Union a matter of exceptional delicacy.

"In Being"

More than the required minimum number of nations have filed notice at Washington that they have ratified the Charter of the United Nations. How many more depends on when the count is made, for notices are arriving daily. The deadline was passed a few days ago.

To become a member instead of a provisional agreement the Charter needed ratification by all the Big Five powers and by half the other nations which were represented at San Francisco. This measure of approval having been given, and exceeded, no further formality is required to make the Charter world law, and the United Nations organization a full-fledged successor to the League.

This new international statute is therefore now in force, and the Security Council due to assume its functions as guardian of world peace. The position of a nation whose representatives at San Francisco signed the provisional agreement, but whose parliament refused to endorse their action would be equivocal, but there seems little chance that any of the signatories will fail itself in this position. So far, reported, no country has rejected the Charter.

The new "League" takes over in world conditions which are far from ideal, but with a more realistic prospect of success than the old one had. Nobody expects the Charter to assume its functions as guardian of world peace. Everybody seems to expect that of the Covenant. Five and a half years of savage war taught the nations that they cannot trust to each other and wisdom but must pool their active interest and energies in the organization created by the Charter which they hope for freedom from war and the outbreak of war.

The outlook for future peace hinges on how well the associated peoples have learned that costly lesson, and how long they will remember it.

Another Moslem has broken the west-east record across the Atlantic, formerly held by a plane. The new record, set new time, 5 hours and 10 minutes. The plane, it is to be noted, was not a new one, but an old one in record. The distance work during the war. Apparently these wood-built machines are tough, as well as speedy.

October 31st has been set as a deadline after which no extra coupons for canning sugar will be issued to civilians.
An exception to be made in the case of discharges, however, and these will get extra coupons. The inference is that the sugar situation is not improving nor in prospect of doing so until next spring.
But however short supplies may be, there should be no gripping about the concession to army and navy. A good many of whom need feeding up in the front in starvation camps in Japan and Germany.

British, Russian and Chinese troops are to take over part of occupation duties in Japan. The Japs understand by this that American forces are quite sufficient for the Japs without help from the other Allies. But the other contingents are reminders to them that their demerited militarism made an enemy of every power against which they could bring their force.
The more clearly they recognize that fact the less likely they will be to let war-minded men again get in charge of the nation's affairs.

The Paralysis of Conscience

By Norman Cousins in Saturday

Review of Literature

All over the world today people are wondering about America. The reservoir of good-will that Wendell Wilkie in his "One World" feared was running low, has now almost run dry. How can it be otherwise when a nation that proclaims its devotion to world co-operation isolates itself morally and acts as if though the main purpose of the war was to see how fast it could re-convert to new technical equipment?

How can it be otherwise when we are so conscienceless about our own losses, assuming that our dollars and our fortunes and our advantages are as natural as the earth itself?
This moral isolation goes far beyond the disparity and the disproportion of wealth and welfare between us and the rest of the world.
It involves our shocking failure to accept the responsibility for "moral leadership" that was laid at our door at the end of the war.
Our use of the atomic bomb turned that responsibility into an obligation. We possess the most hideous successful and most indiscriminate killer in history, but we have used it in a vacuum. We have not so far met the opportunity to re-examine our moral position and atomic solution, to equate force with reason, stating to the peoples of the world the full implications of destructive atomic energy, as we understand them, and calling for the building of a real world structure for the greater welfare and security of all.

What is this atomic solution? It is not a chemical compound or a scientific breakthrough. It is a moral at work, a powerful solution of the difficulties and differences that are deepening people apart. This could be the propitious moment, the grand moment, with the freedom of the world at the end of a great war to take the moral leadership in the atomic solution into play. But that propitious moment is slipping away. The world is slipping away back into old systems of isolation and power politics and spheres of influence—the covets of war.

The Bulletin's Readers Say:

It Happened Before

Editor, Bulletin: Regarding the recent loss of the ship "Hull" being "placable," I feel it is rather odd the authorities in Vancouver didn't know or remember that a similar incident occurred in Montreal when a German submarine and H.M.C.S. Thetford Mines (a frigate) were open for the people of Montreal and distant view, so that they might know what a Canadian submarine looked like inside.

They were going to be open for ten days, but due to many light-fingered people it was only open completely for a couple of days after that people could get an
"on top" of these facts.

So it seems inevitable that occurrences of this nature will happen.
It really is too bad that it is necessary to use this unrestrained desire for these "exhibitions." The Montreal incident was not nearly so bad for "exhibitions" do not seem to be worth while to do.

Editor, Bulletin: I am amazed at the views of some Canadians on the inclusion of the Union Jack in the proposed national flag.

I should think that anyone living under the flag of British dominion would be immediately proud of her and the "Union Jack" which symbolizes all that she is and all that she stands for. It is a flag

I can remember very well how almost every one in America had one question, one hope and one prayer in their hearts in the dark

The question was, would she stand alone

Canadian Bacon Exports

By R. T. RICHARDSON

While Canada possesses many advantages as a bacon supplier, it is not so well known that it is the only country in the world from which bacon is imported into the United States.

The reason for this is that the United States has a long history of importing Canadian bacon into the United States.

It is not until the year 1900 that the United States began to import Canadian bacon. At that time the United States was importing Canadian bacon from the United Kingdom.

Senate Stands on Guard

By SENATOR G. G. McGEER, K.C.

Peace may have come to our war-torn world but there are signs now that the peaceful attitude that has characterized the Senate since the beginning of the war is being shaken. The Senate is now faced with the question of whether it should stand on guard against the possibility of a new war.

Theatre Group Plans Greater Activity in City

That the adoption of a new name and the infusion of new spirit into the organization will widen the sphere of activity of the Edmonton Community Theatre, formerly the Edmonton Little Theatre, was the confident prediction of Mrs. John McNeil, newly-appointed organizing chairman of the board of governors for the movement.

Indication of the new and enlarged operational sphere envisioned by the committee is the offer to assist any church, community league or social club to present better plays, with particular emphasis being placed on the desire to aid youth groups.

FURTHER ASSISTANCE

Technical assistance to the amateur actors in the city will be freely given, but the group is willing to go further than that. After they have presented any one of their unique plays in the regular way the theatre group offers to present it again for any community group in the city, in whatever hall may be available.

Out-of-pocket expenses are all that the players will ask, and it is hoped that the societies taking advantage of this offer will thus be able to make a little money toward community projects.

Membership in the drama group is one dollar a year, and members are offered the opportunity to attend classes in many of the varied arts necessary to the successful production of plays, either on the stage or by radio.

Teachers Hear Dr. M. E. Lazerte

Life is full of quantitative relationships and children, right from grade one up, should be taught understanding of the principles of mathematics, Dr. M. E. Lazerte, of the University of Alberta, told city school teachers when he addressed their section Thursday afternoon at the annual city teachers' convention.

There is very little difference in teaching mathematics in grade one and teaching it in grade XII, the speaker said. The principles are the same and there is enough continuity all through the grades.

"We should not just teach skill and memorization, but should leave the human element in mathematics. It is more important that a child senses that volume has to do with space than just to manipulate figures that have no meaning for him," he said.

The subject of Dr. Lazerte's address was "Number Concepts in Elementary Grades." Memory work is the culmination or final result in the field of mathematics, the speaker told the group, not the beginning. A child should have a practical understanding of the number groups. They should waste measure, judge distances, draw lines and develop ability to use the language of mathematics.

PRIVATE POST

CANBERRA.—(CP)—Officials were curious when a man from the country reported for work with the Civil Construction Corps. He was allocated to a job. Then he scribbled something on a piece of paper, took a pen from the basket, tied the message to its leg and threw it into the air.

Just to let my wife know where I am, he explained.

Vancouver Paper Charges Blunder

IN SALE OF SHIPS

VANCOUVER, Oct. 26.—(CP)—In a newspaper story yesterday the Vancouver Sun claimed that "a blunder by War Assets Corporation's head office in the east..." appeared to be responsible for the disposal of 15 $250,000 Fairmile subchasers to wealthy B.C. interests at an arbitrary price of $100,000 each.

War Assets Corporation "apparently ignored clients' offers of from $100,000 to $150,000 for a boat. The Sun said, "thus depriving taxpayers of at least $100,000 which could have been collected had normal procedure been allowed."

"Critics of the corporation's error was that its directors failed to call for competitive bids when the vessels were offered for sale last August," the paper said.

Say Cargo Ships Now Being Sold At 20% of Cost

VANCOUVER, Oct. 26.—(CP)—The Vancouver Daily Province said in a newspaper story yesterday that 90 or more 15,000-ton Park Steamships Ltd. freighters are "reportedly" to be sold for prices "as low as a fifth of their original cost."

"Twenty-five are believed already sold to Brazilian interest for about $400,000 each, the paper said. The vessels cost $2,000,000 each to build in Canadian shipyards."

"There is indication that Park cargo ships sold in this deal will be at least partly replaced with bigger faster vessels, perhaps 15,000 tons—built in the United States," the Province continued. "Sale of the cargo ships is in the hands of the War Assets Corporation."
